ABSTRACT

This presentation will review the global milestone for developing Ageing Strategies and policies, from the UN First World Assembly 1982 in Vienna, and its regional follow up meetings till the Second World Assembly in 2002 in Madrid.

It will describe the major four findings in the World population report, and will discuss the expected changes in 2050, with its implication in our region.

It will present the situation in our region “Western Asia” which include most of our Arab countries, the current status and expected changes until 2050.

It will end by discussing further findings related to elderly women, elderly support ratio, elderly participation, literacy rate and its implication.
